

The Po Delta

The Po Delta is the land of the river, the sea and the wind. Rivers and canals that flow into the sea, lagoons of fresh or brackish water, vast swamped woodlands and pine-woods make the Po Delta an extraordinary example of biodiversity, a great laboratory in which water has for centuries continued to be the protagonist. Every season is ideal for bird-watching in the Po Delta but spring and autumn are the best periods for observation of birds and animals of every species and admire the fantastic colours of the vegetation.
